

HealthyStripClubs.com Sources

- 1) Overwork in America: When the Way We Work Becomes Too Much, Families and Work Institute, 2005
 - a. One in three employees is overworked
 - b. 56% are dissatisfied with work-life balance
 - c. 54% of employees feel overwhelmed by workload
- 2) <<http://users.ipfw.edu/ruflethe/american.html>> The Overworked American by Juliet B. Schor
 - a. Only 16 hours of weekly leisure time
- 3) Pew Research Center. Social isolation and New Technology, November 4, 2009
 - a. Modern Tech – consuming our focus
- 4) Social Connections for Cognitive Fitness, Dr. Pascale Michelon, April 3, 2008
 - a. Personal and Social interactions are going away
 - b. Social interaction directly causes better cognitive functioning and mental fitness
- 5) New York Times February 22, 2010
 - a. Cortisol – the “stress hormone”
 - b. Cortisol is the age-accelerating hormone
 - c. Cortisol interferes with learning and memory susceptible to weight gain and disease
 - d. Cortisol can cause many serious diseases
- 6) PNAS 2209 106:15268-15273 (Proceedings of the National Academy of Science of the United States of America)
 - a. Testosterone – internal male health, success, and confidence chemical
- 7) Student BMJ 2003; 11:131-174 May (monthly, international medical journal for medical students and junior doctors)
 - a. Top actors are tied to higher testosterone levels
 - b. Top athletes are tied to higher testosterone levels
- 8) Think and Grow Rich – Napoleon Hill, 1938
 - a. Top Salespeople are tied to higher testosterone levels
- 9) Dartmouth University
 - a. Self Confidence is critical to success
- 10) Daily Mail, March 4, 2010 – a British daily middle market online newspaper
 - a. Saliva tests confirmed higher testosterone levels when men are actually around women
- 11) Web MD
 - a. Low testosterone – tied to chronic health problems
- 12) WebMD, <<http://www.webmd.com/sex-relationships/features/10-surprising-health-benefits-of-sex>>
 - a. Major health benefits to a healthy relationship
- 13) A testosterone primer, EverydayHealth.com 7/16/2009
 - a. Men over 50 with low testosterone readings are 33% more likely to die prematurely than those with higher levels
 - b. Testosterone – more confident, increases sexual desire and performance
 - c. Testosterone – better health, sexual performance and longer life

- 14) Psychology – The Search of Understanding by Janet A. Simons, Donald B. Irwin and Beverly A. Drinnien. West Publishing company, New York, 1987 (Book available on Amazon)
 - a. Basic physiological needs – oxygen, food, water and constant body temp.
 - b. Need for Safety
 - c. Need for Connection, Belonging and Affection
 - d. Need for Self-Esteem

- 15) Duke University's Fuqua School of Business, March 17, 2010
 - a. Need for Variety

- 16) Can Social Interaction Help Me Cope with Stress? Charles Raison, M.D., Director, Behavioral Immunology Program, Emory University School of Medicine, February 6, 2008
 - a. Social Interaction tied with exercise when reducing stress and Cortisol production

- 17) The benefits of human touch, <http://health-psychology.suite101.com/article.cfm/the_benefits_of_human_touch>
 - a. Oxytocin – hormone that helps to relax, sleep and reduce levels of Cortisol
 - b. Touch triggers release of Oxytocin

- 18) Judy Dutton author of How we do it: how the science of sex can make you a better lover
 - a. How do you keep your relationship from becoming old

- 19) 12 tips for a happy marriage. Good Housekeeping magazine
 - a. Shake up what you do outside the bedroom

- 20) Exotic Adult Entertainment. Journal of Planning Literature, Vol. 20, No2. (November 2005)
 - a. Visiting exotic clubs provides safety in relation to marriages or long-term partnerships
 - b. Safely interact with women without threat of judgment or rejection
 - c. No fear of rejection, no fear in talking to strangers. Lets a man feel like a man

- 21) ED publications
 - a. Over 3000 adult nightclubs and visited by over 1 million people daily

- 22) Newsweek September 26,2005
 - a. World is moving at a fast pace than ever and is taking a serious toll on our health.